Robert Parker's The Wine Advocate

90 - 92 POINTS

One of the top Crozes Hermitage I was able to taste is the 2014 Crozes Hermitage Thalabert. Possessing an uncommon inky color as well as rock solid notes of black raspberries, ground peppery and distinct minerality, this beauty is medium to full-bodied, has fine tannin and good overall ripeness -- all while playing in the more forward, mid-weight style of the vintage. It won't be the longest lived Thalabert, but it will dish out ample pleasure over the coming decade.

Antonio Galloni's Vinous

91 - 93 POINTS

Opaque ruby. Spicy, intensely perfumed aromas of dark berry liqueur, Indian spices and potpourri. Sweet and seamless on the palate, conveying deeply concentrated black currant and blueberry flavors and suggestions of candied flowers and star anise. Picks up a smoky nuance on the impressively long, penetrating finish, which features a repeating floral note and harmonious tannins.
